A student may substitute an integrated, applied, interdisciplinary or higher-level course within a program of study if the substituted course offers the same or greater academic rigor and the course covers or exceeds the minimum required content. Rigorous electives should have academic content at least as challenging as that in courses required in the minimum high school graduation requirements. These electives should be in social studies, science, math, English and language arts, arts and humanities, and foreign language and be above the introductory level in agriculture, industrial technology, business, marketing, family and consumer sciences, health sciences and technology education, and career pathways. Electives in physical education and health are limited to one-half credit each.
