The Chase College of Law Student Handbook is a student's primary resource for information about graduation requirements, curriculum, grades and grading, academic standing, honor code, and related academic matters. It also sets forth information related to official communications from the College of Law, notifies students of their continuing obligation to disclose character and fitness matters, and refers students to forms and other important information on the NKU Chase website.

This Handbook also references information and policies published by Northern Kentucky University that are applicable to all NKU students, such as health and disability services available to students, campus security, and the severe weather policy. Additional information of this kind is available on the NKU website.

This Student Handbook is continually reviewed and updated to include any changes in law school requirements. Subsequent to the initial publication of this Handbook, policies may be modified or revoked, and new policies

Chase College of Law students are encouraged to take advantage of student services provided by the university such as personal counseling, student accessibility services, and health services.

NKU is dedicated to helping students achieve and maintain optimal levels of physical and emotional functioning. The services provided are primarily free of charge and are administered by trained and qualified professionals.

Health Services and Counseling Services are both located in the University Center, Room 440. The telephone number is (859) 572-5650.

Students who require accommodations (academic adjustments, auxiliary aids or services) must register with the NKU Office for Student Accessibility (OSA). That office determines whether a law student has a disability that requires accommodation by the College of Law. Students seeking final exam testing accommodations should complete the registration process with the NKU Office for Student Accessibility (OSA) and have accommodation approval sent to the College of Law at least two weeks before the beginning of the exam period. The Office for Student Accessibility (OSA) is located in the Student Union, Room 303. The telephone number is (859) 572-5282.

Character and Fitness for Admission to Law School and Admission to the State Bar

Character and Fitness Matters Requiring Disclosure

Character and Fitness is important for both admission to law school and admission to any state bar where you intend to practice. The Chase College of Law application for admission requires applicants to disclose several matters related to their character and fitness to practice law. The disclosures that must be made in detail are as follows:

- Have you ever been arrested, charged with, or convicted of any crime, or military offense? (This includes felonies, misdemeanors, juvenile offenses, major traffic violations such as driving while intoxicated or impaired, or repeated moving violations. Matters that have been expunged, sealed, or subject to a diversion program must still be disclosed.)
- Have you ever been a party to or otherwise involved in an incident that resulted in charges or allegations that you committed abuse, neglect, or violence against another?
- Have you ever been accused of cheating, plagiarism, or any other violation of a student conduct code, or have you ever

The College of Law offers three divisions in which students may earn their law degrees: A full-time, three-year division with courses normally offered during the business day; a part-time, four-year division with courses normally offered during the business day; and a part-time, four-year division with courses normally offered in the evenings.

Every effort is made to make it possible for students to complete coursework and related graduation requirements in the division in which they enroll.

The policy has been developed for the purpose of providing students with advance notice of the circumstances under which make-up final exams will be permitted. It is intended to promote fairness among students taking exams and consistency in the granting of permission to take make-up final exams.
